A wonderful opportunity to see the inspiring World-famous Polar Explorer, intrepid adventurer and Thanet local, Felicity Aston, the first woman to ski across Antarctica alone.

Call of the White: At 11:09 on 29th December 2009 Felicity stood at the Geographic South Pole at the head of a team of 7 women from 6 different countries, having skied 900km in 38 days from the coast of Antarctica.

Representing 6 religions and 7 languages they were the largest and most international team of women ever to make the journey. What made their achievement even more remarkable is that the women had met just 8 months before, many as complete novices.

Felicity recounts their journey, not just the physical journey across the ice but also what it took to transform these 7 strangers into such an unconventional but successful team.
